Pennsylvania and Ohio Miners Are Closing Up Their Lines to

PREPARE FOR FUTURE TROUBLE.

An Appeal for United Action Sent Out by McBride and Lewis.

THE ORGANIZATION TO BE PERFECTED

PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCHA! COLUMBUS, March 20 .- John McBride. President and W. T. Lewis, Secretary, of the National Progressive Union of Miners and Mine Laborers, this evening issued the following circular to the members of the union and all other miners whom it may

The joint convention of operators and miners hold at Columbus, March 12-14, 1889, has just adjourned, without having agreed upon a price for mining from May 1, 1889, to April 30, 1830. This failure to agree will be regretted by all who believe in reason rather than force in the adjustment of the differences between opera-tors and miners. It may be necessary to again Run trials. Major testified that he was not plunge into indiscriminate warfare to finally convince both operator and miner that any ad-to acknowledge the necessity for some such understanding. Many have already learned this lesson; others may have to learn it from that sternest of all teachers, experience. When our annual convention agreed to adjourn at Indianapolis, it was at the request of the Indiana operators, who stated that the conditions surrounding them were such that they could not agree to our propositions, nor to any that we would accept.

They promised, however, that if the convention was adjourned for about a month they would be prepared to meet us with hands untied and in a different spirit. When we reassembled at Columbus your representatives on the Scale Committee were met by the operators from Indiana with propositions worse than the one submitted at Indianapolis. They demanded a reduction in the block coal field from 90 cents to 65 cents per ton, and in the bituminous from 70 cents to 55 cents per ton.

They gave as their principal reason for this demand that the members of "D. A. 135" had offered to dig coal at these figures. However much influence this offer may have had on the operators of Indiana, we have more faith in the unorganized miners of that State than to believe that they will tolerate for a moment any such propositions. And as we could not agree to any such terms, the Indiana operators withdrew from the convention. After their retirement the operators from Ohio and the Pittsburg district asked for a reduction of 10 cents r ton below this year's prices. r ton below this year's prices.

THE DISAGREEMENT.

After a lengthy discussion they submitted as their final proposition, a 5 cents per ton reduction below this year's prices. Your representatives submitted a proposition to them to make the prices for the ensuing year 65 cents for Hocking Varley and 74 cents for Pittsburg district. This proposition the operators refused, and the convention adjourned sine dis.

At the miners' convention, afterward held, the following was unanimously adopted: "The representatives of the miners having been instructed to maintain present scale rates for the representatives of the miners having been instructed to maintain present scale rates for the ensaing year, and this being rejected by the operators, who insist upon a lower mining rate, in the hope of securing an agreement that would allow peaceful and harmonious relations to continue between operators and miners, went even beyond their instructions and proposed summer scale rates as the price for the next year's rate, namely, 65 cents for the Ocking Valley and 74 cents for the Pittsburg district. The operators finally offered, as their highest price for the Hocking Valley, 60 cents for the first six months, and 65 cents for the latter six months, and for Pittsburg @ cents and 74 cents for the first and second half of the scale year."

"The miners' representatives, feeling that they were not warranted in making any further concession in the interest of peace, voted to concession in the interest of peace, voted to adjourn the convention, and now they sobmit all further consideration of the question of accepting or rejecting a reduction direct to the miners of the cutire competitive district, ask-ing them to make such action as will determine the matter, and immediately inform the officers of the National Progressive Union of the result so that the National Executive Board may provide for a concerted and united movement

ACT AT ONCE. It being understood that present prices prerail only until May I, 1888, call meetings at once and act on the foregoing, and send the result of your action to the national office before of your action to the national office before April I, 1889. The near future may have serious trouble in store for this competitive district.

If we would be prepared to meet it, there is no time to be lost in getting every man into our organization and in readmess to act unitedly on any question presented for your consideration. The responsibility of accepting a reduction of maintaining prices resis with you. As officers of the organization we are ready to execute your wishes.

OFT IN THE STILLY NIGHT.

A Drendful Moonlight Discovery at the Home of the National Chairman-Does Prohibition Prohibit?

"Tell it not in Gath; publish it not in the streets of Askelon." A moonlight distillery has been unearthed in Beaver, the home of prohibition and the Saints' Rest! And now all the wicked inhabitants of Bridgewater, Phillipsburg, Sharon, Fallston, Rochester, New Brighton, Beaver Falls, Industry and the other towns roundabout, as they pass, clap their hands at her, and hiss and wag their heads at the daughters of Beaver, saying, "Is this the city that men call The Perfection of Beauty, the Joy of the Whole Earth?" For a long time certain people thought they smelled the odor of raw booze on Third street, and spoke of it: but those whose smellers were imperfect said it was an absurdity. "a barren ideality," phantasmagoria, a mirage, etc., conjured up in the brains of topers, and, in derision, asked them if they didn't see a few thousand rats skipping and snakes-crawling around. How could it be possible that the odor of a still was discernible in a town protected not only by the divinity that doth hedge a saint, but also by an act of Assembly? Perish the thought, to which the wish was father. a saint, but also by an act of Assembly? Perish the thought, to which the wish was father! But Beaver saw another sight the other morning, when some workmen were removing the debris left by a big fire in December. Something was uncarthed which some old-timers, who were brought for the purpose of making inspection, declared was a still; and these ancients' memories carried them back to the days when such things were quite common, and when their possession did not injure a family in public estimation. There yet remain some doubters, who will not believe ocular proof, and the fire has destroyed all nasal and gustatory evidence; and there are others who think some enemy hath done this, to bring the fair fame and name of Beaver into repreach; but matter-of-fact people say the still hasn't been buried in the rubbish since the fire, for there is no evidence to support such assumption.

SENT TO CASTLE GARDEN.

An Imbecile Convict Shipped to the Lune From Which He Came.

A Hungarian was released from the penitentiary at noon yesterday. He was sentenced from Fulton county, and upon his arrival was pronounced an imbecile. The man had only been in the country a few weeks when he was arrested and convicted and sen-when he was arrested and convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary.

His term expired yesterday and Major Hunker, of the Allegheny Poor Board, was asked to take charge of him. Mr. Hunker refused, saying the man belonged to Fulion county.

Chief Elliott, of the Department of Public Charities of this city, agreed to take charge of the man, and sent him to Castle Garden in the custody of an efficer. The prisoner had Slo custody of an efficer and the balance of the money necessary to take him to New York was furnished by the city.

HE WASN'T NAILED.

The Representative of the English Sait

Trest Visits Pittsburg. W. R. Shields, the agent of the English salt syndicate, was in the city yesterday, sounding some of the Pittsburg salt men. This foreign concern acts in concert with the American Salt Trust. An effort was made to Atherican Salt Trust. An effort was made to collar Mr. Shields yesterday, but his move-ments were of the flitting kind. He managed to get out of the city without being cornered, though he probably knows the reporters gave him a lively chase.

Defies All Efforts at Capture-The Last of the Mud Run Trials-All the Neighborhood News.

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 UNIONTOWN, March 20 .- The alleged McClellandtown robbers have been located near Markleysburg, a small hamlet in the mountains, near the West Virginia line. Sullivan, Tasker, Ramsey and Lewis were seen as late as Monday night by Markleysburg people, who know them, and the bey whom they hired to supply them with pro-visions, says they are heavily armed and constantly on the watch for officers and vigilantes.

The whole neighborhood is aroused by their ice, many fearing that they will fall vicpresence, many learing that they will half vic-tims to the inhuman cruelty of the gang. The people about Markleysburg cannot raise a posse sufficiently strong to cope with the six desperate men who now menace them. The citizens are urging the County Commissioners to increase the reward for the capture of the outlaws to $1,000 or more.

THE MUD REN DISASTER.

MANSFIELD, PA., March 20 .- Baden, Sloan and Littlehale, charged with robbing houses and freight cars at this place, were given hear-ings to-day. Sloan and Littlehale made confessions, and all three were held for trial. Baden and Sloan furnished ball, but Littlehale was sent to jail at Pittsburg. The accused are lads about 16 years of age. Detective Love worked up the case and made informations before 'Squire McMillen. From Brown's hardware store several revolvers were taken, but many of them have been recovered. of them have been recovered.

A Somewhat Peculiar Case. ZANESVILLE, March 20.-Much commer prevails to-day over a decision of the Circuit Court. Several years ago Benjamin Wheeler, who owns about $0 acres of land in the city limits, on high ground beyond the reach of the water service, brought suit to recover taxes levied for the payment of the water works, on the ground that he was not benefited. The lower court gave judgment, but the Circuit Court to-day reversed this decision.

Butler's License Court. BUTLER, March 20,-Judge Hazen this morning opened the license court, and comnenced to hear why license should be granted menced to near why normes should be granted to the 25 applicants. All the cases will have been heard by noon to morrow, as the temperance people are making no fight. But two remonstrances were filed, one against Mrs. Duprey, of Karns City, and the other against Harvey Hunt, of Callery Junction.

The Pennsylvania Branching Out. MANSFIELD VALLEY, March 20 .- The Penn sylvania Company has purchased the Doolittle Barr, Burgan and intervening properties, and is in negotiating for the Wilson tract. The company intends to erect shops at this point.

A CHRONIC KICKER.

A New York Grambler is Mad Because He

Got Silver Dollars in Change. Some New Yorkers are evidently chronic kickers. To them their great city is a paragon of perfection, and nothing is done right outside the metropolis.
Yesterday one of these grumblers was at the Monongahela House. He gave the clerk a $5 note to pay for his dinner, probably the only one he had. He received in change four silver dollars dollars.

Turning to a companion he said, petulantly:
"There it is again. A man can't get bills anywhere outside of New York. Over there they apologize if they are compelled to give you silver dollars, but they don't do it here. Will the people in these smaller cities ever learn anything?"

A SORE THROAT is soon relieved by Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, an old remedy for bronchial and pulmonary disorders.
